Animal Adaptations

- Gonna Make a Change

Mr Bryant has spent countless hours editing the Roman movies for 7C and 6/7W.

While we patiently wait for this difficult and tedious process to be completed we have started a new unit of work titled "Animal Adaptations - Gonna Make a Change".

In this topic students will investigate the adaptations that animals have made to their appearance and behaviour over many years to ensure their species survival. These adaptations are vital so animals can capture prey, avoid predators, reproduce effectively and camouflage themselves.

We are also exploring an enormous variety of habitats in which these animals live and how they interact with other creatures within their immediate environment.
